Reviews

Definitely one of the better publication I have got possibly read. It really is writter in basic phrases and not difficult to understand. You wont sense monotony at anytime of your respective time (that's what catalogs are for about if you request me).

A35 2010 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)746795286 Excerpt: . . . 11 to think about how to move this modern food safety system for-ward. LOBUCHAR Senator K. Right. We just saw on the front page of our people today four people very sick, including a toddler, from E. coli in raw milk. It actually wasnt sold in the stores, but was sold di-rectly from a place. So there are just a lot of issues going on right now, so I appreciate your expertise. You mentioned the food coming in from out of the country. What role does the Food Safety and Inspection Service play in making sure these products are safe Dr. H. Thank you, Senator. As I mentioned when Senator AGEN Casey talked about smuggled food, the USDA plays a very impor-tant role here. FSIS has a strong, stringent set of standards for im-ported products. Foreign governments, foreign countries have to meet equivalency standards in the United States. They have to have a system that has been approved and certified as equivalent to that which we use here in the United States to process and produce food. Those systems are audited on a regular basis, and a significant portion of food is reinspected and actually retested at the border coming in to ensure that everything consumed here in the United States, regardless of where it is produced, is safe. Senator K. And one last question. Are you aware of the LOBUCHAR work that the University of Minnesota and the School of Public Health do in this model, where in these last two outbreaks, it wasnt caught by CDC or FDA or NIH....
